Westfield State has made a good faith effort to anticipate the dates, itineraries and costs for these programs. Westfield is not responsible for changes in dates or costs that are outside of its control (such as airfare, departure taxes, currency fluctuations, and in-country taxes and fees), and reserves the right to pass those along to students. Estimated costs include, in most cases, tuition and fees, round-trip airfare, lodging, most excursions, entrance fees, and some meals. Students are responsible for the costs of their passports, any visas and required immunizations, baggage fees and any additional airline taxes. Students are also responsible for personal, out-of-pocket expenses, typically one or more meals per day and gratuities.
