

K-12 Social Studies and Geography Professional Development Workshop

Saturday March 05, 2016
8:30 to 12:30 pm
Westfield State University
5 PDP
FREE

This workshop is designed to present both content and hands-on activities. The goal is to help teachers gain a better understanding of the ways in which we can utilize active learning strategies to teach about various geographic content. This workshop will emphasize exciting and tested ways of using geography to enliven teaching not only geography but to add value to the teaching of history, science and English Language Arts.

Participants will be expected to complete two readings prior to the workshop.
