

AVIATION HISTORY & DEVELOPMENT

AVIA-0135

Spring 2015 Online Course

Instructor: Caroline Hart, Ph.D.
Office Hours: by appointment

Email: chart@westfield.ma.edu
Phone: (901) 832-1597

COURSE DESCRIPTION

AVIA 0135, Aviation History and Development, is a survey course, an overview of the history of America in the Twentieth Century, emphasizing the development and growth of aviation as a major influence upon the economic, military, and societal development of the United States.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

1. Know the significant events, personalities, and aircraft that have influenced the development of both civilian and military aviation.
2. Demonstrate an understanding and appreciation for the history of aviation and its key contributions to society and how its development has affected our nation's political and economic structure.
3. Develop knowledge of the role of aviation during war times (WWI, WWII, Cold War) and peaceful times.
4. Understand the historical roots of modern air transportation.
5. Become knowledgeable about the space age and modern aerospace.

REQUIRED TEXT AND MATERIAL

The following required text provides an accessible and comprehensive view of aviation history:

Millbrooke, A. M. (2006). Aviation history. Jeppesen.

ISBN-10: 0-88487-433-8

ISBN-13: 978-0-88487-433-1

You will need access to a computer with headset and microphone.

