

Westfield State University

Department of Sociology,
Hispanic, Liberal &
Interdisciplinary Studies

LANG0210 Language, Culture and Society

ONLINE

Fall 2022

Course Summary

This course provides a broadly-based entry-level introduction to linguistic anthropology stressing the interactions between language and culture, and between language and social identity.

It also explores the origins and development of language, examines the variety of languages in today's world, presents different writing systems, and discusses the basics of cross-cultural communication.

For questions, email:
boulbeid@westfield.ma.edu

